

ENAR & The SPACE HEALER Story

ENAR overview.

There is a large and growing body of information, initially from Russia and increasingly from around the World and, covering more than 20 years, as to the effectiveness of ENAR, Electro-Neuro-Adaptive-Regulation. ENAR is a type of electro-stimulation therapy that reawakens and enhances nerve functioning. As such, it has proven effective in healing, health promotion and pain relief. Until recently the ENAR neuro-physiology technology has been made available mainly to doctors and therapists. Today it is possible to buy ENAR within a reliable, user-friendly and affordable device, for use by both therapists and patients alike. ENAR is now in its newest form as The SPACE HEALER.

ENAR technology.

ENAR technology was originally developed as part of the Russian Space Program, intended for Cosmonaut use. It was then refined and applied into general medical use in Russia where some 5,000 doctors are reported to use it now as a mainstream treatment modality. As word of the results being achieved in Russia spread to the outside world a number of natural therapists from around the World, including Dr Alexander Yuan of Hong Kong, bought ENAR type units to use in their clinics. Dr Yuan bought eight units and spent much time and effort in evaluating and assessing the ENAR technology and finally went to Russia to secure the exclusive rights to mass-produce a new, reliable, affordable and highly useable version of the ENAR device to be called The SPACE HEALER.

Theories behind ENAR effectiveness.

There are several theories being propounded as to the basis of ENAR Therapy effectiveness. What is apparent is that the device interacts in a dynamic way with the nerves and central nervous system when applied to the skin. One may try to explain it at the physical, biological, electrical energy or life-force levels but the simple fact remains that it does interact adaptively and appears often to restart, rejuvenate and/or regulate the normal healing and health maintenance functions in the human body. This is a remarkable achievement. A non-pharmacological, non-invasive, very simple and easy-to-use method has been found to substantially help with healing, health and with pain relief.

How SPACE HEALER works.

The SPACE HEALER is a lightweight, highly manoeuvrable, hand-held ENAR device. The SPACE HEALER device works from a 9-volt battery through a very smart chip via a delivery head that stimulates the neuro-physiology in a interactive and intelligent way. Both Amplitude and Frequency can be adjusted to suit the problems being treated. This interactive 'dialogue' with the neuro-physiology seems to accelerate the natural healing processes initiated by the central nervous system. This allows the body to 'heal itself' rapidly, often producing instant relief of pain, whilst also promoting the restoration of optimal health. (Demonstrations, trials and training are freely supplied on request.)
